To-night at the opera house, the great drama, "Macbeth," will be shown in moving pictures. "Students' Jokes" will make you laugh. "The Haunted Castle" fills out a nice program. Mr. Robertson will sing, "Holding Hands."

Manager Hoban of the opera house announced a free moving picture matinee for the children Saturday afternoon and expected a fair-sized crowd. However, when afternoon came and the rain was still falling, he reckoned that the attendance would be very light. He was, therefore, very greatly surprised when 900 youngsters besieged the door for admission to the opera house. They all got in and had an afternoon of fun, their ungracious appreciation being thanks enough for Manager Hoban, who so kindly had prepared the amusement.
